

MONEY MATTERS

How does Student Business Services help me?

There are several ways the SBS Office works to serve you. The SBS Office is responsible for the university's accounts receivable. We will play an important part in your college life, by interacting with you in several ways. These include maintaining your student account and sending you a periodic statement; providing you with a campus card; disbursing your financial aid and other monies owed to you, and providing you with student loan counseling once you graduate.

How do I receive my financial aid money?

SBS disburses refunds through direct deposit; including financial aid, housing, and other credits. These include "remainder amounts" and other forms of financial aid such as outside scholarships and Direct Loans for students. A "remainder amount" is the financial aid money owed to you after all of your university charges are paid. SBS staff will verify your enrollment units at the time of disbursement.

Credits, Refunds and Direct Deposit

By enrolling in Direct Deposit, any refunds from financial aid or cash/check overpayments are deposited directly into your bank account. Please sign up online at tritonlink.ucsd.edu. To ensure that you receive your refund in a timely manner, you must keep your bank account and current mailing address information up to date. Addresses must be updated by the end of each quarter on Tritonlink. Failure to do so will result in delays in receiving your refund.

Managing your Billing and Student Account

E-Bill statements are produced monthly from the university and will list your charges and credits. Charges may include registration fees, housing, parking, and other purchases. Credits may include payments such as personal payments, grants, scholarships, and loans. After the credits are offset against the statement's charges, you will either pay the remaining amount on the statement or receive a refund if there is a credit. We will send monthly email E-bill notification to students and authorized parent payers. We encourage you to check your account online frequently to review any charges that may have posted to your account. It is a University of California policy that no student may continue in the next academic quarter if that individual owes money to the university. An automatic hold prevents the student from future registration until the bill is paid. Holds can be seen on TritonLink. The hold may also affect transcript requests.

Tuition and Registration Payment Plan

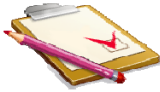

Another convenient service we provide is Triton Registration Installment Plan (TRIP). TRIP allows you to pay quarterly registration fees in three monthly installments within the quarter. You may sign up for TRIP on tritonlink.ucsd.edu.
